

Occupational Driver License

What is an Occupational Driver License?

An occupational driver license, also called an essential need license, is a special type of restricted license issued to you when your driver license has been suspended, revoked or denied for certain offenses, other than a medical reason or delinquent child support.

An occupational driver license authorizes you to operate a non-commercial motor vehicle only in connection with:

1. Work,
2. Performance of essential household duties, or
3. School-related activities

Request an Occupational Driver License

You must petition the Justice of the Peace, county or district court where you currently reside, or to the court of original jurisdiction where the offense has occurred, to obtain an occupational driver license.

An example of an occupational driver license petition is available for free from the Travis County Law Library. Due to varying requirements for each court, please consult the court with which you intend to file a petition for an occupational driver license to determine if the petition on the Travis County Law Library website is acceptable.

Upon reviewing your petition, if the court determines you are eligible to apply for an occupational driver license, you will be provided with a signed court order. This court order is not the occupational driver license. You must submit the court order to the Department along with the other necessary documentation for the issuance of an occupational driver license.

Issuance of an Occupational License

The court order and all required items must be submitted to DPS before an occupational license will be issued. The court order may be used as a driver license for 45 days from the date of the judge's signature while the request for an occupational license is processed.

You must submit the following items to DPS:

1. A certified copy of the petition and a certified copy of the court order granting the occupational license.
 1. The judge has the authority to grant an occupational order.
 2. If you are participating in a special drug court program, the petition is not required.
2. A Financial Responsibility Insurance Certificate \(SR-22\).
3. Payment of the occupational license fee.
 1. Fees can be paid online on the License Eligibility page or can be mailed to the department.
 2. An occupational license is typically issued for one year or less; the maximum length of issuance is two years.
 3. The court must grant the issuance of an occupational license beyond one year.
4. Payment of all Reinstatement fees.
